History of Trinity Episcopal Cathedral (<http://www.trinity-episcopal.org/history-in-depth.html>):

“Trinity Cathedral traces its history to the mid-1840's when overland immigrants began pouring into the area from the Oregon Trail. Among them was the Rev. Michael Fackler, a recent graduate of Virginia Theological Seminary, who had taken the long trip in hopes that the climate might be beneficial to his failing health. On his arrival, he became the first Anglican clergyman in the vast area which is now Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah and Montana. Although he was never well enough to establish a parish, he did obtain permission to hold occasional services using the Book of Common Prayer in the first Methodist Church in the area.”

History of St. Michael's Episcopal Cathedral

(http://www.stmichaelscathedral.org/about_us/history.html): “The history of St. Michael's is intertwined with the development of the city of Boise. The first Episcopal service was held in August, 1864, a little more than a year after the town of Boise was formed on July 7, 1863. By 1866, the Rev. Saint Michael Fackler had raised $1500 in gold to build St. Michael's Church, the first Episcopal church in the vast territory which now comprises the states of Idaho, Utah and Montana. Today this church has been renamed Christ Chapel and stands on the Boise State University campus, in the shadow of Bronco stadium.”
