

TWO WOMEN ARE STILL BEING HELD IN WALTZ MURDER CASE

While State and county officers were continuing their investigation into the untimely death of M. C. Waltz, 72-year-old retired Cresson carpenter, whose body was found suspended from the limb of an apple tree on Sunday afternoon, July 19, the four persons originally taken into custody still remain in the county jail.

Tuesday morning at Cresson two charges of bigamy were preferred against Mrs. Mary Alice (Furfaro) Waltz, widow of the dead man. The informations were made before Justice of the Peace W. H. Byrne of Cresson.

Mrs. Rosella May Heckfan, daughter of Mrs. Waltz, also being detained at the county jail here, was charged with an offense against morality in an information made before Justice of the Peace Byrne.

Both women, when arraigned for a preliminary hearing, admitted the charges preferred against them and were removed to the county jail in default of bail.
