Notes for CALVIN DAIL:

Calvin Dail was born in Duplin County, North Carolina about 1821. He was the son of Curtis Dail and Polly Saunders. He is listed in the 1850 Census for Duplin County along with his wife Susan age 16 and son Curtis J. age 5 months. Calvin and his family moved to the Buck Swamp District of Wayne County, before the 1860 Census. In the 1860 Census for Wayne County, Calvin's occupation is listed as a cooper, a person who makes barrels. Also listed are Calvin's wife Susan age 27 and his children Curtis J. age 11, Calvin R. age 8, John J. age 5, and Cronetta age 3.

On February 28, 1863 and in Wayne County, Calvin enlisted for the Civil War when he was 31 years old. He was assigned to Company G, 55th Regiment of North Carolina. Calvin was captured on the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg, Maryland, which began on July 1, 1863. After being taken prisoner, he was confined at Fort Delaware, Delaware on July 6, 1863 and was paroled from Fort Delaware on September 14, 1864. In what was believed to be a prisoner exchange, Calvin was transferred back to the Confederate Army at Aiken's Landing, James River, Virginia. He was hospitalized at Richmond, Virginia on September 21, 1864 and transferred to another hospital on September 22, 1864.

Calvin returned to duty and was with General Robert E. Lee's troops when General Lee surrendered at Appomattox Courthouse. At the time, the Confederate Army had only 8,000 bedraggled and weary troops to fight against 80,000 Union soldiers.

Calvin Dail died about 1900 in Wayne County and was the great, great, grandfather of Charlie Wood
