6257 Nuckolls W.M. 10-03-1856 05-12-1958

(Doesn't jive with your death date. Anyway, this makes him 102 at death, so it is likely wrong.)

Both are buried at Cranberry Primitive Baptist Church, road #1607, 2 1/2 mi south from junction of 113 & 221, Ashe County side.

A story was recorded that William's father was a deserter from a war. Two family members told me that they heard that when William was very small, his father put him on his knee and told him that some people were after him and the next morning the family found him dead in a nearby ditch. I spoke to a gentlemen doing research in the library last month and he told me that that they usually didn't kill you if you are a war deserter because alot of men had farms back home. It could be he was running from the law. Could that be recorded somewhere?

WM Nuckolls in Book 3 p. 553 Deeds, of where he purchased land from Jacob & Caudice Miller in the Obids Creek Township on 23, Jan 1899 and paid $107.00 plus 6% payable on that day. I couldn't read alot of the content because it was hard to read. It was wittness by B.B.Bare & G.E. Richardson on 8, May 1899 by A.S. Eller, Clerk of Court & D.A. Osborne was Register Of Deeds copies from a small book. A couple of titles" Declaration of James Cox" & "Declaration of Benjamin Phipps, *** I found an article (pages) out of a book that mentioned Creed Nuckolls name. This article was sent to me in 1985 by someone who had researched the Shepherds Line.>>Some years after the first store house was built and goods being sold in it, there was another store house built on the opposite side of the creek nearer to the Fields house. The first merchant to sell goods in that house was a man by the name of Weaver. After him came James Waugh and Creed Nuckolls. After them came Weldon Edward who rented the store, sold goods for several years, then moves to the east side of Pine Mountain. After Edwards, McLean and Hale sold goods up to the beginning of the Civil War. After the war was over two young Confederate soldiers, Charley Evans, who before the war lived at Baltimore, and Captain Blankenship, from Fredericksburg, Va. drifted here. Neither could go back at that time in account if the Federal army having possession of their homes. During the war Evans had lost his right arm and Capt. Blankenship his right leg. They drifted here and by some means got a small stock of goods and continued in the business a few years. Before them came W.J. Neikirk who sold goods and bought horses for the southern market. He married while here Miss Leutitia Ross. After a few years he moved up near Grassy Creek, N.C

***Benjamin Phipps ,Sr. is Grandma Sarah Jane Shepherd Nuckolls' Great Great Grandfather b. ca. 1762 in Grayson Co. Va. Married Jane Hash 1838.

I talked to a 73 year old lady that is researching information on Cranberry Cemetery where my family is buried. She was also present when William died. She was around four or five. She told me William Nuckolls donated land for Bellview Church which is less than a mile from Cranberry. Cranberry split up and William changed his membership to Bellview. He was a committeemen and wanted to start their own cemetery. This lady Mrs. Reeves said her uncle was the first one buried their. Later they decided to share the one cemetery. She remembered a Nuckolls being buried without a grave marker in the 40's. She wants to see the data I have collected on William & Sarah's children. The reason she had an interest in the Nuckolls was that her mother had a trunk full of old love letters from my uncle Robert (the one I am searching for). The letters are lost but she had one where he wanted to marry her and she turned him down because maybe of family problems. Robert was in the Ohio 52th U.S. Army WW1. He was an officer. Where could I get information on him. She is getting me more information on other people to call. She called an 82 year old man about William and he said that he did die at home because someone by the name of Dan Hill and Elmer Taylor was walking down the road when William fell to the floor and Sarah Jane yelled at them to help get him up and that was when he died. She gave me an address of an old lady that lives in PA who has alot of information. Every one said so far that nobody heard William talk about his parents.

I met with Ms. Reeves today and she had alot of information on William Nuckolls. Every one called him Willie. She made a lot of phone calls for me. She wants me to help her figure out what Nuckolls was buried in the Cranberry Cemetery in the mid-40's without a grave marker. She remembers alot of nice flowers was placed on the grave and she saw them on a Sun morning. She thinks it might have been some of W.Va. Nuckolls. She thought someone said that it was one of William's children. All of them are accounted for but Robert. She wants to collect alot of information in a book form and sell them and use the money to purchase markers for the ones in the Cranberry Cemetery without any. She helped a man who was taking care if the graves and knew that at one time all the old field stones where cleared out of the cemetery and there are alot of lost graves. Also we were going through her 1850 Ashe Co. Census and found a Geo. Nickels 23 from Va. and Elizabeth 28 Children; David age 6, Eda age 3 and Polly 8/12 from Peak Creek Comm. pg. 16 author Danny L. Miller. I know it is a long short. I also found in my notes several years ago that I written down that William was born in the Peak Comm. in Ashe. I've asked Mrs. Reeves to help me locate anyone in that comm that might know something. Wm. & Sarah's house burned in 1899 or 1900 and he purchased land in Obid Comm which is close to Peak Creek Comm in Ashe Co in 1899 .I will go sometime and check out land records and wills. Still waiting on a reply from the funeral home and the very old distant cousin from PA. Mrs. Reeves showed me a love letter Robert Nuckolls wrote to her mother in 1909 from Camp -Perry, Ohio 2nd.U.S. Infantry (AHA Pruden Chapin Library) was printed on the stationery.I'm going back to see her Thurs and get a copy of the letter .--

My half-brother told to the family that he remembered that William Nuckolls showed up one day out of nowhere and married Sarah Jane Shepherd.

One old gentleman told Ms. Reeves that William wanted to visit his son in Chicago that was sick and Jane wouldn't give him the money and when he got the money his son died before he got to see him. He wasn't sure if they didn't have the money or she didn't want him to go. I cannot understand why Gordie was buried in the Cranberry Cemetery before Jane and William was married. Sarah Jane Shepherd's and her people donated the land for the cemetery

The Nuckolls Family
as told by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan

Our grandfather, William M Nuckolls was born October 5, 1856 and died May 12, 1934 with a heart attack. He stated that when he was little, his father was a Union soldier in the Civil War, he was advised they were looking for him. He took William in his lap and kissed him goodbye, and later they found his body (his father) in a ditch nearby. He was thought to be a deserter from the Army. If you recall the story Marshall Wyatt wrote on Edison Nuckolls life history as a musician, It told of William Nuckolls, a family of boys that settled in Grayson County Virginia. They were originally from Zash, England, their names were James, John and William.

William M Nuckolls was married to Sarah Jane Shepherd. Sarah was born July 17, 1854 and died Sept 17, 1944 with pneumonia after having a stroke. Her first husband was Boyden Hash and they had a daughter Aurora. He died of TB and I understand he was quite wealthy. That was why grandma had quite a bit of money. Aurora married John Henry Waggoner on Oct 31 1900 in Allegheny County North Carolina. Both are buried at Liberty Hill in Nathan's Creek Community in Asche Co, NC

We took care of grandmother in her later days as Dad had two houses. I listened to a lot of her stories. One that really fascinated me is as follows. "When she was little and she was riding with her aunt on a horse, they stopped to let a gap down and the horse started bucking. All of a sudden a panther leaped out of a tree, snatched her bonnet and left. If she had not have had on a bonnet it would have taken her head."

Sarah Jane told us about her house burning one night. They had a piano, lace curtains and a quite elaborate house. Her son came home from a date and was smoking in the bed upstairs, all of a sudden when the fire started the older boys savaged bedding, furniture, etc. They got hasty and did not take time to dress and they put all the things they got out near the house. Edison was only five years old. He got dressed and climbed out the window like a man and was very cool. When the house burned the second floor fell on all the furnishings they had savaged and nothing was saved. They all hid in the bushes while little Edison went to a nearby neighbors for help.

6254, Nuckolls, Sera Jane 09-17-1944 07-17 1854

(This doesn't make sense. Could they have switched the b & d dates?)

The caretaker of Cranberry Cemetery wrote back to say that they could not find out anything concerning any of the Nuckolls buried there. There is something that I have been wondering about. The land where the cemetery is located was donated by Sera Jane. Bettie (William's Mother) is buried there. Sera Jane inherited a lot of money from her first husband and probably bought the land after her first husband died Boyd Hash. Their only child Aurora found in cemetery records was born 1878? I'm not sure if the year is right, trying to locate gravesite. Bettie had to be buried on her land after she bought it or she purchased the land because she was buried there. The marker isn't in line with the other Nuckolls graves and it's not an old marker. William & Sera's first child was born 23, Dec. 1878 and died 21, May 1885 is buried in the same cemetery. The child's tombstone looks older than Bettie's marker. Also if she died then why wasn't her dates recorded on her marker unless nobody knew her exact birth and death date.

Another story of Sarah Jane Shepherd Nuckolls was sent to me. Wiley Edison maybe remembered a story about (Gordie). Seems he had done something that angered Aunt Jane and she threatened to whip him. His response was "you're not big enough" and her reaction to that was to wait until he was asleep and sew him into the bedclothes and then she gave him the lickings. Then so the story goes, he left home and where he ended up nobody knows. Wiley also stated that others in the family wasn't sure which boy it was. I believe this could be Robert Lee Nuckolls because he left home to never to return. I found a letter he wrote to Aurora and plus all the letters and postcards he had written to his girlfriend asking about different people while in the service and other letters the brothers were asking about the where about of Rob. Ms Reeves said that Jane was stubborn and probably wouldn't change her membership. William wasn't listed in the origin Bellview Church Minutes after his death. Jane probably had something to do with that too

Mrs. Reeves gave me the copy of the cemetery records at Liberty Hill where Aurora is buried. I also seen where her daughter's child was also buried there. Will send you a copy in a few days. When I was rereading some of the old letters sent by the Nuckolls brothers, I notice where Robert wrote from Texas(sent to Aurora) after 1900. that he asked about Aurora's father. He seen him recently in W.Wa. The story was told that Boyd died of TB maybe before Sarah Jane and William got married. I will also send you a copy and see what you make of it. Sarah Jane may have told William that he died

I know someone who knew that J. Henry was probably married two or three times because she ran a store for years in that area (Scottville) and knew alot of people and also her husband is buried there. Her husband is a brother to Z. Grey Nuckolls, wife Muriel (Bob Huffman) my half-brother. No one in the family knew what ever happen to Aurora until I found her and her five childrens names in Ashe Co. Courthouse and library. IThe only reason I have not gone to the cemetery is because you have to travel through several cow pastures and gates. My husband thought I shouldn't go but, I am going with a camera and grass chippers. Scottville is half in Ashe and Alleghany. It is next to Chestnut Comm. in Ashe where Liberty Hill Cemetery is located on HOPE WAGONER ROAD.

Notes for Gordie Nuckolls:

Gordie, the first born has the birth year, month and day as Aurora. I seen it when I was recording the dates. I thought I made a mistake. I'm going by the Ashe cemetery records at the library. I know Gordie's is right because I decorate the graves every year. I cannot locate the cemetery yet, the church is no longer in use where Aurora is buried. One of the dates must be wrong.

The Nuckolls Family

as told by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan

Was born Dec 23, 1878 and died May 21, 1885 at the age of 7. Dad pointed his grave out to me in the Nuckolls Cemetery and said not to forget to decorate his grave. I never really learned what caused his death.

I took my dousing rods to Cranberry Cemetery today and checked the grave of Gordie Nuckolls. Contrary to cemetery records, Gordie is a boy as the Nuckolls family believes.

Since Gordie is reported to have died at the age of seven, I wanted to see if I could get a reading on the length of the body. From the place near the headstone where I could get a solid reading to the bottom of the grave where I could get a solid reading was 64 inches. I checked three other graves like this. John Frank Nuckolls measured 80 inches, William M. Nuckolls measured 103 inches, and an infant grave measured 43 inches.

Now, I'm not suggesting that these measurements are the actual length of the bodies, only that the measurements represent the distance where I pick up a body reading. Since the infant grave measured 43 inches and the two adult graves averaged 90 inches, it seems reasonable to conclude that a seven-year old child is buried in a grave measuring 64 inches.

With that said, I would like to suggest that the dates listed on Gordie's headstone might possibly be confused. The dates are: b. Dec. 23, 1878; d. May 21, 1885.

I didn't examine the headstone carefully, nor do I have any knowledge when it comes to dating headstones. However, this particular headstone does not appear to have been set at the grave near the time of death.

I'd suggest that this headstone may have been set many years later. At this point, someone had the date of May 21, 1885 associated with Gordie. Also, it may be that someone noted that the first child of Sara Jane was born December 23, 1878. Assuming this to be Gordie, these two dates were put on the headstone, when actually, it could have been that May 21, 1885 is Gordie's date of birth, instead of his death.

The other children of William and Sara Jane Nuckolls were born: 1886, 1887, 1888, 1890, 1892, 1895. A birth date of 1885 (ten months before child #2) seems more in line, than for one child to have been born and then died before any of the others came along.

And since it is pretty firmly established that Aurora Hash's (Gordie's half sister by a different father) birthday was December 23, 1878, it follows that Gordie Nuckolls birth date as recorded on the headstone must be in error.

Also, on another note, there is a male buried beside the grave marked "Bettie: Mother of W.M.

Nuckolls."

Sincerely,
Brodrick Shepherd, Author

Notes for Robert Lee Nuckolls:

Robert (Lee) Nuckolls. He was our fathers older brother who disappeared long before their mother S. Jane died. In the family stories I recorded is that he left home and never returned. He lives in Texas and was an officer in the war. I found a letter where he wrote Aurora (Half-sister) and said he was homesick.I couldn't read the return address. Well back in Dec. I found on a message board where a John Nuckolls was searching his Nuckolls ancestors in N.C. (Furches Comm.) This is where WM & S.Jane raised their children.I didn't have his birthdate at the time, but found it in the census and it was the same year 1888 that his grandfather Robert had. He wrote that on Robert's death certificate his parents was listed a unknown. We also heard that he didn't have children. John said his father was adopted by Robert Nuckolls but has a daughter by another marriage. He was to contact me after contacting his family back in Jan. He never returned a reply and lost his e-mail and cannot locate him. They lived in Austin, TX and he moved to somewhere near Moorehead City, N.C. We don't have anything on Robert other than what Mrs. Reeves said that he was in the Ohio Army at Camp Perry in 1907 and that he lived in Texas

The Nuckolls Family as told by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan

Was an officer in World War I and living in San Antonio, Texas. For reasons unknown he did not contact his family in North Carolina. On one had heard from him in years. We first heard he had married a wealthy widow. When Tony (my son) was six years of age, I was teaching him how to skip-trace a person. That is what I did in my collection work at Sears. Would you believe we located Roberts wife. He said, "Mama, she is on the phone." Sure enough, her name was Edna and advised that Robert did not say much about his family and only that he was from Winston-Salem. I learned he died with a heart attack and had no children. When dad and I was setting up Sarah Jane's estate years prior to that, the attorney advised us we had to send a letter to Texas. Someone answered it and the attorney told dad we could have him come to North Carolina to claim the estate. Edison said "If he is like that, I do not want to see him in North Carolina, just send him a check."

Robert Lee had a following out with his mother and left home. I found letters and cards where he wrote home and to a lady friend who turned him down in marriage

The Nuckolls Family

as told by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan

Lived in Princeton, WV. Was born June 18, 1890 and was killed in a coal mine on June 17, 1930. He married Rosa Woods and had eight children, Otis, Roy, Naomi, Juanita, Billy, Eugene, Floyd Jr and Evelyn. Otis and Roy still live in West Virginia. Otis had 7 children and Roy had 2. Naomi was burned to death. She was passing by when they were burning trash. Juanita was married three times and had 7 children and she died of pneumonia. Billy was shot in the chest at close range. Boys that were with him said he wanted to show them that the gun was not loaded. It is a mystery and we wondered about the case. Eugene was shot and killed by his wife and she wounded both of her children. Floyd Jr was working in Wash DC and had gotten his paycheck, called his mother and told her three angels were coming for him. The family received word that he jumped from a three story building. That is another mystery. He had one son that was a minister and he died with a virus. Evelyn had been married twice and had a son and daughter and she died with liver problems.

Notes for Wilburn Edison Nuckolls:

The Nuckolls Family

as told by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan

Edison and Maggie, Bland and Grey were riding in a pickup truck coming up Wilkes Mountain. We were driving very slowly and it was getting dark. I held my head out of the window and said "Lord, I hear a woman screaming and that big dog on the bank keeps following us." Mother said "Lord God, stop quick and get the boys in this cab." as they were riding in the back, I learned later that night that a panther was following us.

Edison was the youngest of seven boys. His mother was so attached to him. He had to leave Colorado and move back to North Carolina, brothers included. Robert, Dock, Gordie, Frank, Floyd and Roy.

Born March 11, 1895 and died Aug 22, 1975 with a heart attack. He married Maggie Hill and they eloped by buggy and caught a train and went to Chicago. Later took a job in Colorado working in the Gold Mines. He moved back to North Carolina and had three children, Bland, Grey and Phyllis. Bland lived in Norfolk VA and died of a heart attack. He has a daughter that lives in Dallas. Grey lives in Charleston, SC and has five children Phyllis lives in Greensboro NC and has one son, Tony McMahan. After Maggie died, Edison married Edna Cox of Virginia and had three daughters, Patricia, Sandra and Geraldine. Sandra married David Church of West Jefferson NC.

Events recalled by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan regarding the events in the life of Edison Nuckolls
Edison Nuckolls and Everette Taylor were neighbors and grew up together as kids. They went to college together at Boone and got their teaching certificates. (I have a lantern the used while walking back from Boone which is 40 miles). Uncle Everett met his wife, my mother's sister, Melissa Hill at dad's house where she was staying when Bland was born. Later Everett went to Cripple Creek Colorado to work in the Gold Mines and Dad joined him later, after they graduated from college.

How Dad got to be a veterinarian is because it was the type of work the Dr Cicero Hill was engaged in. When dad bought his house, he also got the equipment and doctor books. Dad, being very smart, studied the books and took the course by mail. He looked after a lot of the animals in the vicinity. I can remember him filling horses' teeth. He did this up until a few years before he died.

Edison and Edna Cox were introduced by Charlie Cox at the Cox Store in Goldhill Virginia. Both their nicknames were "Ed". Edison would drop by her father's store. Then one day they took the ice cream and went for a ride on White Top Mountain in Virginia.

A complete biography of Edison and many photos is found on the internet at <http://www.danielprophecy.com/edison.html>

Edison Nuckolls A "Henpecked Husband"

Edison Nuckolls was the son of Willie and Sara Jane Shepherd Nuckolls, a grandson of James Wilburn Shepherd and a first cousin to brothers Grover and Harrison Shepherd.

The following is a collection of selected excerpts from a two-part story titled Music From "The Lost Provinces by Marshall Wyatt. The story was published in the Spring, 1996 and Summer, 1996 editions of The Old-Time Herald, a magazine dedicated to old-time music.

Wilburn Edison Nuckolls

How Edison Nuckolls first learned music no one can remember, but learn it he did. "Oh, he just picked it up along the way." He could fiddle and he could ring a banjo and he could play most anything with strings. Edison grew up on the county line between Ashe and Alleghany in the community of Furches, also known as Cranberry, in a time before radio existed and when phonographs were rare. He learned music from friends and relatives, and farmhands and traveling horse traders--anyone with a song to sing and a tune to play.

He and Maggie [Hill, Edison's first wife] had two boys, Bland and Grey, and a daughter, Phyllis, and they all played music. Maggie hammered a 5-string banjo, Phyllis played tenor banjo, Bland the mandolin, and Grey the guitar. Edison Fiddled: "John Henry," "Old Hen Cackle," "Home Sweet Home." Phyllis, the youngest child, remembers,

The whole family played music. We played one time for a contest at Nathan's Creek School, and my brother Bland...was sitting on the edge of the stage with his mandolin and he just fell asleep and tumbled off. Bang! But the rest of us kept on playing! The Children, we just chorded, you know, and Dad would give us signals when to change. He would take his foot and give a little kick, so we always watched him. We were so tiny!

Nuckolls Family Band
Scottville, NC mid 1930's

Maggie (banjo), Phyllis (tenor banjo), Edison (fiddle), Bland (mandolin), Grey (guitar).

Grey Nuckolls continues:

When I was a kid back there in the 1920s we used to have corn shuckings and molasses making, and at our home once a month they had candy making, and there'd be music playing and square dancing for family and good friends. Sometimes Dad would take us around to fiddlers conventions. In Boone one time we took second prize, which was a sack of flour!

A corn shucking was a way to get your corn shucked for free. Sometimes you'd find a row of red kernels in an ear of white corn--if you did that you could get your choice of any girl and kiss her! After the corn shucking, they'd clear out a room and have a big dance. People seemed to really enjoy life in those days, not so much stress like today. You might only make a dollar a day, but you didn't have to worry about withholding tax, and nobody had any insurance either!

Corn shuckings and other communal activities had a long tradition in Ashe and Alleghany Counties where most citizens raised all of the food that they put on their tables. Sugar was scarce and expensive, and often molasses was the only sweet substance available. Molasses making was a long, slow task that required mashing sorghum cane in a horse-turned mill, followed by a lengthy process of boiling and filtering. But hard work was tempered by the opportunity to socialize and the promise of entertainment when the job was done. Friends would arrive to help at all stages of the procedure; music and dancing was sure to follow. Edison Nuckolls would often bring his family string band to such gatherings, knowing that he in turn could rely on his neighbors to assist him when the need arose.

THE FATAL COURTSHIP
by Ephram Woodie &
the Henpecked Husbands

...by the time Clay Reed joined Ephraim Woodie's band in 1927 he was well respected as a fiddler. Ephraim was then still a bachelor but Clay had married Bertha Church three years prior, and Edison Nuckolls had tied the knot back in 1917. In jest, Ephraim began calling his two partners "The Henpecked Husbands." The name stuck and soon the threesome began playing at local dances and social events with handbills announcing: "We Play Banjo, Violin, Guitar. Singers of old time songs, as 'Cluck Old Hen' as well as love songs. It takes 4 to 6 hours to play all we know. Come Bring All Your Friends And Sweethearts."

In the fall of 1929 Ephraim Woodie and the Henpecked Husbands got a chance to make recordings for the Columbia Phonography Company. They first recorded "Last God Dollar," with Clay Reed fiddling and Edison Nuckolls on banjo. Ephraim Woodie sang in his nasal mountain accent.

Modest Sales can be attributed in large part to poor timing. Columbia 15564-D by Ephraim Woodie & The Henpecked Husbands was released in 1930, a time when nationwide record sales began a drastic decline in response to the collapsing American economy. A recording career was clearly not a practical pursuit. Edison and Clay had families to feed and fields to plow, and Ephraim had yet to finish high school. But the band continued to do what it did best--performed around home, at box suppers, square dances, schools, picnics, and parties.

When friends and neighbors gathered at the Nuckolls' house to hear music, most of them would bring the children along. Edison had a pair of dolls that he'd made from two handkerchiefs, and he used them to entertain the kids, as described by his daughter Sandra: "He would tie one of those dolls to his strumming hand with little pieces of black thread and it would hang down almost to the floor. Then he'd make it dance. When he played the banjo that doll would dance exactly to the beat! One handkerchief was black and one was white, they were supposed to be a black man and a white man, I think that's what the impression was."

The music of the Lost Provinces is pure old-time music, music from the heart and soul, not motivated by publicity potential or profit margin. Music for the home and the school and the backyard and the front porch. "Kitchen music." Music at the country store on Saturday night and music at church on Sunday morning. Live music. This is the music of the Woodie Brothers and the "Henpecked Husbands," of Clay Reed and Donald Thompson, of Bill Williams, Charlie Cox and Edison Nuckolls. None of these names are famous, nor are they likely to be. These men never made a hit records or played in concert halls. In fact, none of them were music professionals at all, their recorded legacy just a handful of scratchy old records and a few reels of tape. but their importance cannot be overstated; these musicians were bearers of a vital cultural tradition, their motives were ones of creative expression and social interaction. And the tradition lives on through all the children and grandchildren who continue to sing and play music.

Wilburn Edison Nuckolls, born Mar. 11, 1895; died Aug. 22, 1975; buried at Cranberry Community Cemetery; married 1st Margaret (Maggie) Nevada Hill, Sept. 18, 1917; married 2nd Edna Alice Cox, Mar. 18, 1927. Edison received his education at Furches, NC and Appalachian College in Boone, NC with a degree in teaching. He and Maggie Hill eloped by buggy to the depot in West Jefferson, NC, and boarded a train to Chicago to join his brother. Later they left Chicago and went to Colorado Springs, CO, where Edison was employed with the gold mines.

After a few years, they returned to Furches and lived on a farm his mother had purchased for them, January 2, 1931. Edison became engaged in farming, cattle raising, lumber, and owned his own sawmill for over 20 years. Edison was a great musician and played all instruments. He played five-string banjo in a band, having recorded and broadcast on a radio station in North Wilkesboro, NC. He also had a private band at home in which every member of his family took part in playing. Edison was a very hard worker and was one of the last farmers in the county to work the land without the aid of a tractor, but instead used horse-drawn machinery. His machines can now be seen at Shatley Springs Inn along with other antique machinery.

Notes for Margaret "Maggie" Nevada Hill:

Events recalled by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan regarding the events in the life of Edison Nuckolls
Maggie's father was Dr Cirero Hill. When he died, mother's brother wanted to keep the house in the family. Dad was the only one in the family that could afford the house. I understand Dr Burgess Cox Waddell had the house built by Perry Waddell, Jones brother. Jones mother was Ida and is related to Edna Cox. Every piece of lumber in it came via wagon from Wilkesboro where it was shipped by train. I am sure you noticed all of the fancy trimming it had. You mentioned Jones Waddell our neighbor. De, Dr Waddell and A C Dancy owned all of those fancy houses. They all had lots of money and land, more than anyone in the county.

Events recalled by Phyllis Nuckolls McMahan regarding the events in the life of Edison Nuckolls

How Edison and Maggie met

She was walking home from church with some other girls. Dad was riding a prized horse (no one had anything like it). They eloped and only Melissa knew they were getting married. They left by horse and buggy to Jefferson, where they married and boarded a train to Chicago where his brother Frank was living and then to Colordao for work. Dad had some depression being there but firends from NC were working there too and one had to borrow money from dad ro get back home to NC. I found a letter in Dad's trunk where one man pawmed his piano to Dad for a ticket, but we never got the piano. Maggie came home to NC by train and brought the money for the farm in her money belt. They knew a girl slone would not stand a chance of being robbed. I wore the same money belt when Claude and I went to Calif.

BOY WHO DEFENDED HIS MOTHER FREED
Charge of Murder Against Raleigh County Youth is Dismissed

Beckley, Feb 23 (AP)- A 15 year old boy, who said he shot to protect his mother, was freed of charges in the death of Dawson Warren, 33 years old yesterday. Roy Nuckolls, 15 years old, told Magistrate C B Cottle that Warren, a boarder in the Nuckolls home at Coolridge, came to the house intoxicated. Warren, the boy said, fired a pistol into the ceiling and then began to choke Mrs Rosie Nuckolls, Roy said he ran upstairs and found a rifle and fired six shots. Warren's injuries proved fatal in a Beckley hospital yesterday. At the hearing, Prosecuting attorney W H McGinnis submitted a dying statement from Warren that the boy was justified in shooting him. One of the shots wounded Mrs Nuckolls slightly.

He died at 12:00 midnight, May 20th. They are having his service at the Memorial Funeral Home on the Athen Road in Princeton, WV . The family viewing will be at 4:30 on Tuesday, May 23rd and the service will be at 8:00 P.M. that same evening. Grey turned his garage into a Nuckolls World War Museum. Our fathers bango, old camera which made post cards and other items are there. Hurricane Hugo went through his town and he taped all the sounds of the wind. I was making me a scrapebook also because it came through out town and we carried water and used lanterns for a week. He wants me to send anything that relates to the Nuckolls Family because no one in the family knows anything
