

Solve your family history puzzle at
Jamboree 2009

40th Annual Southern California
Genealogy Jamboree

Friday through Sunday, June 26-28, 2009
Burbank Airport Marriott Hotel and Convention Center
Burbank, California

On behalf of the Board of Directors and the members of the Jamboree Committee, we cordially invite you to the 40th Annual Southern California Genealogy Jamboree.

Jamboree has earned a well-deserved reputation as one of the largest genealogical events on the West Coast. The Genealogy Jamboree has expanded to rival the size and importance of national conferences. What does that mean to you?

You have a very special opportunity to see nearly 60 of today's leaders in the genealogy industry, all gathered under one roof, sharing their insights, experience and knowledge to help you trace your family's history. Best of all, you don't need to travel several hundred miles to hear these nationally recognized experts. They are right in your back yard.

In the exhibit hall, you will find representatives from the companies that provide the electronic data, products, services, books, and materials that you use every day in exploring and keeping track of your family history. Societies and lineage associations will also be there to help guide the search for your ancestors. You will find lots of bargains to help manage your genealogy budget.

Special events and social activities provide excellent opportunities to share your experiences with others and learn from them. Maybe you'll be lucky enough to find a cousin.

We know that you're looking for good value for your money, and Jamboree offers that. We've kept registration costs the same as 2008. We've increased the number of speaking sessions offered each day, so you can get even more for your money. Discounts are available for early registration and for SCGS members. You just can't get a better deal for your genealogy buck than Jamboree.

You just can't miss this event! See you at Jamboree!

Leo Myers and Paula Hinkel
Co-Chairs, Genealogy Jamboree

FR-C Free. Introduction to Genealogy: Getting Started the Right Way [Truesdale]. Learn how to get started the right way and avoid typical mistakes made by beginners. Learn how to fill out family group sheets and pedigree charts, as well as collecting vital records and using of census records. Limit: 100 attendees.

FR-D Free. Introduction to Genealogy: Advanced Beginners [Parmenter]. This session for advanced beginners will focus on our most common mistakes, tools to use next and Internet resources. Limit: 100 attendees.

FR-E Free. Kids' Family History Camp [Campbell, Melendez, Taylor, Hibben]. This session is designed for youth aged 6 to 16. Introduce your family's youth to the joys of exploring their family histories. Through activities, games, music and other methods, the participants will have an entertaining morning while they learn. Lessons will include requirements for Scout genealogy badges. Limit: 100 attendees.

Friday, June 26
1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

FR-01 The Last Muster: Photographs and Stories from the Revolutionary War [Taylor]. As unbelievable as it seems, many individuals who participated in the American Revolution lived past the advent of photography in 1839. Step back into the 18th century through the photos and stories of these men and women. Learn about the detective work involved in uncovering these "misplaced" pictures and find out new ways to discover the Revolutionary War generation in your own family.

FR-02 What's New on Ancestry.com [Adams]. Come find out what is new on Ancestry.com, including new content and product enhancements. Sponsored by Ancestry.com.

FR-03 Legacy Family Tree [Rasmussen]. See how Legacy's SourceWriter helps you write sources correctly and easily. Learn how to create shareable CDs, maps, customized wall charts, publish books, get automated research suggestions, and much more. Sponsored by Legacy.

FR-04 Hot off the Press [Broglin]. This discussion shows the differences in the newspapers over the years. See examples from sketchy genealogical information in early papers to the wealth of data found in the 1880's through the 1930's.

FR-05 FamilySearch Records Access and Digital Historical Books [Nauta]. The FamilySearch Records Access Program leverages FamilySearch's resources to help provide access to more records of genealogical significance worldwide—quicker and more economically. FamilySearch is digitizing and indexing tens of thousands of published family and local histories and has amassed the largest online collection in the world. Discover how to use this valuable online resource, learn more about the Records Access Program, and how you might donate your own published work to ensure it will be preserved and readily available for generations to come. Sponsored by FamilySearch.

FR-06 Scots-Irish to Backwoods America, 1717-1775 [Dollarhide]. This session is a review of one of the four main British groups who migrated to America during the colonial period, where they lived in the British Isles, and where they settled in America. Based on the book, British Origins of American Colonists, 1629-1775 (Heritage Quest, 1997).

FR-07 Finding Digital Items in the Family History Library Catalog [DearMYRTLE]. With indices and scanned image collections residing at BYU, FamilySearch and a variety of state-sponsored websites, researchers are in a quandary as to how to locate the collections. The answer is to look in the Family History Library Catalog, a logical place for genealogists to start.

3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

FR-08 Is Your Genealogy Already Compiled? [Eakle]. If you carefully survey what is already known and often in print, you can save hours of tedious research. Locating and using family histories, genealogies, compiled biographies, autobiographies, periodicals, "first settlers" collections, and narrative sources will pay rich dividends. Learn how they are written, where to find them, and how to evaluate them.

FR-09 NEHGS Resources for British Research [Leclerc]. Through their library and publications, New England Historic Genealogical Society (NEHGS) has undertaken considerable research in the British Isles and in the origins of American immigrants. Whether it is the library in Boston, the education trips to London and Salt Lake City, or in-house Research Services, NEHGS has a lot to offer. This talk will outline much of their holdings, research strategies, and successful stories of British research. Sponsored by NEHGS.

FR-10 Writing Your Research Plan [Malesky]. A written research plan is a tool to improve research success. Learn how to describe your research problem, analyze and present the evidence accumulated to date, and identify your current research goal and ways to achieve it. Follow up with a summary of results and conclusions or define the next research objective.

FR-11 Online Resources for California Research [Trindle]. This session looks at online resources for California research, what hasn't made it to the Internet yet, and what might be coming.

FR-12 Buried Treasure: Lost in Print [Elliott]. This session demonstrates how to locate names in books and records when names do not appear in the indexes.

FR-13 FamilySearch Indexing Project Update [Rencher]. FamilySearch Indexing allows users to index from their homes without all of the administrative tasks normally associated with indexing. Indexers can choose from a variety of projects of their choosing, see online helps with each field of data, choose from authority sets tailored to each project and know that their work will be validated by a second set of indexing and an arbitrator to look at any differences between indexers. Come see what all the buzz is about! Sponsored by FamilySearch.

FR-14 The Nature of Genealogy [Burroughs]. The Nature of Genealogy dictates that researchers must be adept at why records are created, what they were created for, how and when to use them, how they interrelate to the circumstances of their ancestors, and how to execute a successful strategy. This presentation will cover understanding history, research, repositories, records, theory development, results analysis and publishing findings. It is woven around a case study discovering a new ancestor by an experienced genealogist.

4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

FR-15 Constructing the Lives of Our Ancestors in 19th Century England [Johnson]. Using specific examples from villages, towns, and cities, this talk demonstrates the possibility of reconstructing the society in which an ancestor lived by comparing census returns to Ordnance Survey maps. Sponsored by BIFHS-USA.

FR-16 Irish Census and Census Substitutes [Rencher]. This lecture describes the scope of what records survived and, rather than focusing on the loss, outlines what can be done to mitigate the loss. The intent is to broaden the researcher's perspective of what constitutes a census record and how the various name lists can be used to their maximum potential. Sponsored by FamilySearch.

FR-17 RootsMagic 4: Family History Has Never Been This Easy [Buzbee]. Meet RootsMagic 4, the newest version of the award-winning genealogy software that makes family history easy. See the new features which make entering, researching, and sharing your family tree a breeze, as well as new tools to work with the latest technologies. Learn how to use the new improved Source Wizard, shared events (witnesses), mapping, named groups, DNA support, exciting new report features, New Family Search support, and much, much more. And learn how you can even run RootsMagic 4 directly from your own flash drive. Sponsored by RootsMagic.

FR-18 California State Genealogical Alliance Board Meeting. Founded in 1982, the California State Genealogical Alliance serves as a statewide association of independent genealogical societies, individuals and non-profit organizations. Meeting open to the public.

FR-19 War with Britain: The Second American Independence in 1812 [Elliott]. Overview of causes of this war, and a detailed description of all the personal records created for American veterans.

FR-20 Finding Your Family in American Newspapers and Periodicals [Meitzler]. Learn what to look for in the papers, as well as a discussion of the types of papers, guides and indexes.

FR-21 Ancestry.com and You, Saving the Records of the World [Fechter]. Conserve. Digitize. Index. Come learn how Ancestry.com works around the clock and around the globe preserving genealogy records and making them available online. Then learn how you can help. The World Archives Project was created so genealogists can collaborate in an effort to preserve more of the world's historical records. Sponsored by Ancestry.com

6:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

FR-22 Family History Library Catalog 2.0 [Ericson]. WorldVitalRecords.com has worked with FamilySearch to add Web 2.0 functionality to the Family History Library Catalog. Learn how to use these new features, discover advanced functionality, and see how you can participate in helping to grow and refine the largest catalog of genealogy sources in the world. Sponsored by WorldVitalRecords.com.

FR-23 Ports of our Past: A Guide to US Ports and Records [Alexander]. How much do you know about the 101 ports through which 50 million early immigrants entered our country? Where were these ports? What records were generated? Where are these records now? Here you will find the answers to these questions and much more.

FR-24 DNA for Females, Adoptees, and Strong Lineage Connections [Greenspan]. The genetic genealogy industry started with the proposition that two men who have the same name share a common male ancestor by virtue of sharing a common Y-DNA signature. But what about the children of adoptees? What about two women who think they share a father but different mothers? This lecture will describe the various genetic tools that are available to those who are looking for father or family and who do not have a surname to use as an anchor. Sponsored by Family Tree DNA.

FR-25 Bugsy Siegal and Meyer Lansky: The Men Behind the Flamingo Hotel [Arons]. By collecting as many different types of documents as possible, this presentation pieces together the lives of these two lifelong friends and partners in crime.

7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

FR-26 Finding Your Roots in the 21st Century: Lessons from the History Detective. Friday Evening Banquet, featuring Tukufu Zuberi, Ph.D. As one of the stars of the popular PBS series "History Detectives," Dr. Tukufu Zuberi is an observer of the historical and cultural forces that shape society. The presentation starts with the ancient Egyptian saying that the first lesson in life is to "Know thy self." He will discuss some of his many genealogical investigations on the "History Detectives," and the recent boom in genealogical research. Ancestry.com, Africanancestry.com, find-your-roots.com, and other new technology makes tracing your ancestry as simple as a point and click, but what's really going on behind the scenes? Tukufu will show just how these services work, give some insider tips on how to avoid scams, and become a genealogical detective yourself. As a final example, the discussion will reveal new and personal information on his own genealogy. [Special registration required.]

Saturday, June 27

7:30 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.

SA-A Saturday Breakfast: Effective Society Management Panel Discussion [Broglin, Elliott, Smith, Trindle]. This lively question-and-answer session with nationally recognized genealogical society leaders will provide lots of suggestions for energizing your society. Submit your questions beforehand or anonymously at the breakfast. Don't be afraid to ask about even the most challenging issues. Sponsored by California State Genealogical Alliance. [Special registration required.]

8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.

SA-01 The Mission of Genealogy: Connecting Individuals with Their Family's History [Wait]. At its heart, genealogy is the pursuit of self—discovering the people whose life choices directed where you are today. This presentation discusses the importance of engaging people in family history work and Ancestry.com's dedication to ensuring that anyone, anywhere, can continue along the path of discovering their own family history. Sponsored by Ancestry.com.

SA-02 Write your Family History Step by Step [Alzo]. This session will provide a step-by-step guide to write a compelling family history, and if time permits, participation in some sample writing exercises.

SA-03 Legends Live in the Cemetery [Campbell]. Cemetery research can be fun and very informative. Learn what to look for when you go to the cemetery and how best to record the information you find. Cemeteries are a very fascinating place to do family research.

SA-04 Legacy Family Tree Demonstration [Rasmussen]. Repeat of session FR-03.

9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

SA-05 Finding Lost Records and Sources Outside the Library [Eakle]. Family sources and little-used local records are often overlooked because they were previously hard to find. New finding aids and research tools allow you to locate these sources. Photographs and portraits, coffin quilts and samplers, historical monuments and markers; museum collections of manuscripts and books—learn how to find and use them effectively to fill in gaps on your pedigree. Also included: how to evaluate "family records" and use their evidence successfully.

SA-06 Anatomy of a Pension File [Burroughs]. Understanding the pension process, understanding the documents, and processing the information will squeeze the most out of a military pension file.

SA-07 RootsMagic 4 Demo [Buzbee]. Learn about the latest version of the RootsMagic family tree software, taught by its creator. Whether you are a beginner or an experienced genealogist, see the new features which make RootsMagic better than ever. Learn how to use the new improved SourceWizard, shared events (witnesses), mapping, named groups, DNA support, exciting new report features, New FamilySearch support, and much, much more. And learn how you can even run RootsMagic 4 directly from your own flash drive. Sponsored by RootsMagic.

SA-08 Scottish Records [Trindle] Scottish research and retrieval of the records of Scotland are intertwined with use of the Internet.

SA-09 Summit 2: Son of Blogger [Morgan, The Ancestry Insider, Cooke, Danko, Dardashti, DearMYRTLE, Eastman, Manson, Meitzler] Panel Discussion. Genealogy bloggers, podcasters, and video casters use the Internet in ways that have changed communications to genealogists and family historians. This panel discussion will cover a wide range of topics, including: How have bloggers changed the flow of information between vendors and their customers? How can family history blogs help to exchange information and locate cousins? What are the ethical issues of blogging? What tips do these pros have for starting your own blog? What tools are available to help bloggers get up and running? Email your questions to jamboree@scgsgenealogy.com. (Session runs from 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.)

SA-10 Where to Start When You Have Inherited Genealogy [Hovorka]. If you have inherited genealogy records from your grandparents, aunts, etc and need to know what to do with it, this session is for you.

SA-11 Kicking the Tires of Popular Genealogy Software: Which to Get? [Smith]. Hear the pluses and minuses of each of the most popular genealogy software packages. What should you be looking for in a genealogy database software product.

11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon

SA-12 Do You Want a DNA Test, or Do You Want a DNA Test for Genealogy? [Greenspan]. Although the industry is now 9 years old, not everyone has embraced genetic genealogy. Ask any genealogy crowd and only one-third to one-half have taken a DNA test. The percent is much lower for those who aren't hobby driven. Let's talk about why. What are the benefits of DNA testing? What techniques can be used to entice our reticent cousin to test, and which test is right for each person, and why. Sponsored by Family Tree DNA.

SA-13 Putting Flesh on the Bones [Arons]. Many family historians spend their time collecting names, places, and dates with the goal of pushing their family trees back in time. Their ultimate goal is to collect as many relatives as possible. Another approach is to concentrate one's research efforts on a particular individual, exploring their lives, examining why they may have acted the way they did. Through two related examples, the speaker will demonstrate how this approach works. The unexpected and surprising result of this approach? It led the speaker to push back his family tree many more generations and find living relatives he never knew beforehand.

SA-14 The Irish Family History Foundation Database [O'Donnell]. This talk will outline all the types of Irish records which are currently online and how best to use this unique source.

SA-15 Archiving Your Family Treasures with Light Impressions [Proctor]. Learn why and how to preserve photos and documents using archival materials and methods. Sponsored by Light Impressions.

SA-16 The Six Phases of African American Genealogy [Burroughs]. This is an overview of the methods and sources in the six distinct phases that are the building blocks of African American genealogy. It progresses from beginning to more advanced research, highlighting some of the problems and complexities of African American genealogy along the way. It is designed for beginners, intermediates and advanced researchers.

SA-17 What's New at FamilySearch [Rencher]. This session will update you with what's new and upcoming on FamilySearch.org. This includes the digital projects and programs that have been launched on FamilySearch.org or the projects that are nearing completion. A discussion of what's in the research and development stage at FamilySearch Labs will also be addressed. Sponsored by FamilySearch.

1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

SA-18 What's New at NEHGS [Simons]. This session will introduce new databases on NewEnglandAncestors.org and NewYorkAnces-tors.org, upcoming books, articles, databases, study projects, education trips, and future projects, including the growing wealth of manuscripts and other resources within and outside New England, and plans to further this expansion. Sponsored by NEHGS.

SA-19 Alien Registration Records [Miller]. Alien Registrations contain a wealth of personal information and should not be overlooked when researching immigrant ancestors. This lecture will discuss what Alien Registrations are available, information found in the records, and how to access the records. Sponsored by NGS.

SA-20 Photograph Workshop [Taylor]. In this two-hour extended session, learn to identify family photographs by researching photographers, dating costume clues and comparing facial characteristics. Preserving your family photographs is easy and inexpensive when you understand the terminology and how to purchase supplies. Participants are invited to submit one picture for analysis during the workshop. [Special registration fee required.]

SA-21 Genealogy and the Changing Map of Eastern Europe [Danko]. This presentation will help attendees understand how the changes in borders, nationalities, and languages affect genealogical research in Central and Eastern Europe.

SA-22 Controlling Your Chaos [Campbell]. We spend hundreds of hours doing research. If we can't find what we are looking for later, all that time has been wasted. Learn different ways to organize your research.

SA-23 Clue to Clue: Tracking a Family Over Time and Miles [Hibben]. Move from one piece of information to the next to reconstruct the life of a family.

SA-24 The Winter of our Discontent: Three Months to Better Organization [DearMYRTLE]. We've heard about marathon runners. How about a marathon to finally get organized? Myrt quickens the pace of her 12-month program, and asks you to devote a mere 12 weeks to the process. You can do this! Includes sorting, filing, data input, scanning photos, documenting artifacts, and creating family history experiences for the non-genealogists in the family.

3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

SA-25 Electronic Document Preservation [Meitzler]. Electronic filing allows instant access and easy sharing of any document in your collection. Take your 4-drawer file cabinet to the Goodwill Store. Reduce your paperwork to an archival box. Fully document your genealogy, link to the documentation, and electronically file it, allowing instant access to any document.

SA-26 Lights, Camera, Action [Burroughs]. Turn your genealogical documents, photos, interviews, and videos into a family history documentary on your home PC or Mac. From interviews, to biographies, to family histories, to promotion and instruction, editing video tapes is easy and inexpensive. This presentation will cover equipment, costs and show sample video projects.

SA-27 Legacy Family Tree Demo

[Rasmussen]. Learn about creating custom reports, tagging, using the split/screen to drag/drop from one database to another, creating timelines, discovering potential problems, and even learn about little known tips/tricks. Sponsored by Legacy.com.

SA-28 Before and After 1858: English and Welsh Wills and Death Records [Morgan].

Learn the changes that influence the very different ways you research your English and Welsh ancestors.

SA-29 The iPod and the Genealogist

[Underhill]. As the divide between old and new continues to widen, many of us wonder if we can connect with the next generation. How many of us truly understand the iPod Generation? Can we ever find something in common with them? The answer is an resounding "Yes!" This class teaches ways to integrate family history into the next generations, and methods to integrate the next generations into genealogy. Sponsored by Creative Continuum.

SA-30 Seven Habits of Highly Effective

Genealogists [DearMYRTLE]. The class focuses on feedback from other genealogists who would do things differently if they were starting over from scratch. Handouts include research log, research checklist, a plan for filing paper documents, and information leading to proper source citation.

4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

SA-31 The Best Digital Documents Sites on the Internet [Dollarhide].

At least 25 websites will be reviewed, showing the screen pages, search screens, results, indexing, etc., Discussion will include comments on why the website is one of the best, with examples of successful document retrieval, photographs, and links to other important genealogical sites.

SA-32 1922 Four Courts Fire - Not Everything Blew Up [O'Donnell].

The old fable that all Irish records were burned in 1922 does not ring true. Many records were destroyed but many more survive.

SA-33 RootsMagic 4: Family History Has Never Been This Easy [Buzbee].

Repeat of session FR-17. Sponsored by RootsMagic.

SA-34 The Proof is in the Pudding

[Broglie]. In learning the proper research techniques, the process of evidence evaluation is made clear to the beginning genealogist by using the Genealogical Proof Standard.

SA-35 DNA Mishmash [Mello]. What do all those DNA numbers mean? Attend this session and find out.

SA-36 Locating Anglican Parish Records

[Morgan]. This seminar presents an overview of Anglican Church history, parish registers, what's in them, and how to locate them.

SA-37 Researching New York [Child].

Many of us have ancestors lost in New York. This lecture will discuss ways to tackle your ancestors in the Northeast using traditional sources and online sources, especially through NEHGS' website, www.NewEnglandAncestors.org. Explore other information and other research methods that NEHGS and you can use for this area of research. Sponsored by NEHGS.

6:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

SA-39 Facebook Friends F2F. The genealogical online place to be these days is Facebook. Stay connected with genealogists across the country. Meet your Facebook Friends at this F2F (face to face) and talk real time, without using a keyboard.

SA-40 Association of Professional Genealogists, Southern California Chapter Meeting.

APG members and interested individuals are invited to attend this open meeting for "professional genealogists." Whether you're earning a living today or thinking of working to help others solve their family mysteries, you're welcome to attend.

Southern California: A Destination for All Generations

Jamboree presents a unique opportunity to enjoy a family vacation in one of the classic US travel destinations. Where else can you learn the secrets to finding missing ancestors, and then spend a day at Disneyland, munch a Dodger dog during the 7th inning stretch, walk on the beach in Santa Monica, play a round of golf, or stroll down the Hollywood Walk of Fame? Only in Southern California!

Southern California is rich with genealogical repositories. Arrive a day or two early, stay a day or two late, and take advantage of the area's resources, such as:

- Immigrant Genealogical Society
- Los Angeles Public Library
- National Archives Pacific Region
- Santa Barbara County Genealogical Society
- Sons of the Revolution American Heritage Library
- Southern California Genealogical Society & Family Research Library

You've probably traded information with cousins who have helped to fill in the gaps in your family records. Why not invite them to Jamboree and make it a family reunion? The Burbank Airport Marriott will serve as a convenient and comfortable home base for your reunion.

The hotel is located across the street from the Bob Hope Burbank Airport, and complimentary shuttle service is available to and from the airport.

The hotel renovations are finished and the lobby entrance and public areas in the main hotel are beautiful.

For lodging, take advantage of the special Jamboree rate of $139 per night for one or two occupants, $159 for triple and $179 for quad.

All Jamboree attendees pay the discounted parking rate of $10 per day. Marriott guests have in-and-out parking privileges. Valet parking is available for a fee. Additional parking is available in nearby airport parking lots.

If you're a local resident, consider staying at the Marriott through Jamboree weekend to avoid traffic delays and stress. Reward yourself with a genealogy holiday.

If you just want to get out of the hotel for a bit, take advantage of the Marriott's free shuttle to Burbank Town Center and Universal Studios City Walk. The Empire Shopping Center is just minutes down the road.

Hungry? Walk across the street to the new food court for a quick bite. Marriott concessions, conveniently located in the Convention Center, will offer sodas, sandwiches and snacks; and the Daily Grill has good California fare and ample servings. Stop in at the Daily Perk for your morning jolt of java.

Check the website and the Jamboree blog for lots more suggestions to make this an unforgettable family vacation. We look forward to welcoming you to Jamboree!

Sunday, June 28

7:30 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.

SU-A Sunday Morning Breakfast - The Art of Mourning - A Victorian Obsession [Ashdown-Turner, Ralston]. Learn about the mourning customs of our Victorian-era ancestors, including clothing styles, social interactions, jewelry, etc. [Special registration required.]

8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.

SU-01 The Basics of Copyright and Plagiarism [Smith]. Learn the basics of copyright and plagiarism so that you can protect your materials and legally and ethically use the work of others.

SU-02 The Lay of the Land Using Directories, Maps and Gazetteers [Meitzler]. Learn about using these valuable resources in this lecture.

SU-03 Western Massachusetts Families in the 1790 Census [Child, Leclerc]. Western Massachusetts was a crossroads of migration. The transient nature of families in this area, especially during the post-revolutionary years, makes Western Massachusetts a major target area for thorough genealogical treatment. Join Michael & Chris, editors of the upcoming NEHGS publication "W. MA Families in 1790," as they discuss the history of this project, useful resources for research, case studies, and its success to date. Sponsored by NEHGS.

SU-04 Deduction vs. Induction in Genealogical Research: Applying Logic Theory to Family History [Hibben]. Learn types of proof used to assess research findings using the Genealogical Proof Standard.

SU-05 Immigration Path Photographs [Taylor]. Photographs of immigrant ancestors contain evidence of an ancestor's origins and migratory paths. Learn a series of techniques for reading the immigrant clues, finding additional images and adding to your genealogical knowledge. Case studies are included.

9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

SU-07 Locating and Ordering English BMD's [Morgan]. This seminar presents an infallible methodology for locating English and Welsh birth, marriage, and death entries in the BMD registers from 1837 to 1983, and then how to order copies from the General Register Office.

SU-08 Using the Ancestry and RootsWeb Community to Enhance Your Research [Fechter]. Why would I want to participate in message boards and mailing lists? Where can I go to get help with my research? In this session we will discuss how to use the Ancestry and RootsWeb communities to your advantage and how the community can assist you in your research. Sponsored by Ancestry.com.

SU-09 Methodology for Irish Immigration and Emigration [Rencher]. This session identifies specific strategies and methodologies for solving Irish immigration and emigration problems. A number of new tools, including country-wide indexes and DNA technology open new methods for solving complex problems. Sponsored by FamilySearch.

SU-10 The Irish and the Scots Irish [Malesky]. This lecture explores the differences between the Irish and the Scots Irish, the unique history of each group, their migration and impact on the American colonies and post-revolutionary United States, and the problems that must be overcome in researching both groups.

SU-11 GenealogyBank: The Tour [Kemp]. Everything you've wanted to know about GenealogyBank and how to get the most out of this widely used online genealogical resource: 3,500 newspapers; US Serial Set; American State Papers; and more. Sponsored by GenealogyBank.

SU-12 Adding DNA to Genealogy [Burroughs]. Using DNA with genealogy is so popular in the newspapers and television that many think DNA is genealogy. While DNA is not genealogy, it can sometimes be used with other resources in your genealogical research. What are the things genealogists, versus scientists, need to understand about the basics of using DNA with genealogy research? There are several different ways to use DNA, and genealogists need to understand when to consider adding DNA to their genealogical research, and what doesn't work with DNA.

SU-13 Tracing Ancestors who Lived in Cities [Eakle]. Over 65% of our ancestors before 1900 lived in cities and towns; over 80% of immigrants spend one or more years in cities. Special strategies and resources are available to locate and document the lives of your ancestors in Boston, Hartford, Providence, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Charleston, San Francisco, Chicago and other cities. Also included: how to search small-town America, with sources separate from county sources.

11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon

SU-14 Online Resources in Britain and Ireland [Smith]. Learn the range of online resources available to those doing research with ancestry from Britain and Ireland.

SU-15 Getting the Most out of Family Tree Maker [Pfister]. Learn how Family Tree Maker can help you more effectively organize, manage, and share your family history. Sponsored by Family Tree Maker.

SU-16 RootsMagic 4 Demo [Buzbee]. Repeat of Session SA-07.

SU-17. Beyond Y and Mitochondrial DNA: Genealogical Information from the Rest of Your DNA [Mountain]. Most genetic genealogy services focus on Y chromosomal and mitochondrial DNA. 23andMe has worked to mine the rest of the genome, including chromosomes 1 through 22 and the X chromosome. So is there genealogical information stored in chromosomes 1-22 and X? 23andMe's analyses demonstrate that the DNA of these chromosomes can reveal previously unknown cousin relationships. Key factors are database size and the populations of origin of individuals within that database. Sponsored by 23andme.

SU-18 Innovative Tools to Connect Families [Ericson]. Explore billions of names and thousands of databases as you learn what WorldVitalrecords.com has to offer and why it is the fastest growing genealogy resource on the Web! Sponsored by WorldVitalRecords.com

SU-19 Google: A Goldmine of Genealogy Gems Part I [Cooke]. You're a dedicated researcher, but chances are you're working too hard! Discover innovative ways to work smarter and find more research golden nuggets than you ever thought possible with the power of Google. We will cover setting up your Google Account and iGoogle page, adding gadgets, adding genealogy podcasts and blogs, themes and organization, and gadget customization.

SU-20 Using Genealogy Charts to Further Your Research [Hovorka]. This presentation will cover various kinds of charts, and what each type of chart can teach you.

1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

SU-21 Ten Things to do with Your Digital Camera [Underhill]. Go beyond the point-and-shoot basics to research techniques you can use from the genealogical library to the cemetery. Learn methods to use a camera as a scanner and maximize graveyard photography. Sponsored by Creative Continuum.

SU-22 Irish Surnames - How You Could Miss Your Ancestors Due to Spelling [O'Donnell]. "Place your mark here." Many illiterate Irish emigrants had their surnames recorded as the immigration officer would have assumed it was spelled. Learn why it is important to keep an open mind with Irish surnames.

SU-23 A New Look at Immigrant Passenger Manifests [Danko]. This presentation will survey the available US passenger manifests focusing on annotations and markings on the manifests that lead to additional information.

SU-24 Expecting the Unexpected: Tracing English Ancestors Using Less Used

Resources and Methods [Wishon]. This session presents a discussion of selected online resources for English research. Also analyzing existing pedigrees and ordering research in England. Sponsored by BIFHS-USA.

SU-25 Legacy Family Tree Demo [Rasmussen]. Repeat of session SA-27.

SU-26 Google: A Goldmine of Genealogy Gems Part II [Cooke]. Work smarter, faster and more innovatively than ever before! We're taking Google's free features to the next research level to uncover even more genealogy gems. We will cover Gmail, The Google Toolbar, Google Site Search, Google Video, and one of Google's newest tools: Grand Central.

SU-27 Searching for Italian Ancestors [Adams]. This session will focus on how to begin research for your Italian ancestors starting with records in the US and moving toward records available in Italy. Sponsored by Ancestry.com

3:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

SU-28 Finding Hidden Treasures at the USGenWeb Project [Fisher]. This is an introduction to the USGenWeb project including how to navigate to any state project.

SU-29 Demystifying Eastern European Research [Alzo]. Anyone who has attempted to trace their ancestors back to Eastern Europe understands how border changes, language differences, and exotic-sounding surnames often complicate the research process. This session covers the most common myths/misconceptions and how to work around them.

SU-30 Understanding the Probate Process [Broglin]. Testate or Intestate? Understanding how an estate is settled can lead to more clues and records.

SU-31 Internet Research: Joys and Pitfalls [Watson]. Straight talk on the joys and pitfalls of using the internet for your ancestral roots. Advice on why you still need the printed resources at your genealogical libraries, even with the increasing availability of digital books.

SU-32 Genealogical CSI [Morgan]. The collection, analysis and comparison of evidence are the key to genealogical problem-solving, analogous to the work of a crime scene investigator. Learn step-by-step methodologies to succeed as a genealogical CSI.

SU-33 The Cavaliers of Southwest England to Virginia and Maryland, 1641-1675 [Dollarhide]. This reviews one of the four main British groups who migrated to America during the colonial period, where they lived in the British Isles, and where they settled in America. Based on the book, British Origins of American Colonists, 1629-1775 (Heritage Quest, 1997)

SU-34 Would the Real Molly Brown Please Stand Up? [Miller]. Margaret "Maggie" Tobin was born in Hannibal, Missouri, the daughter of poor Irish immigrants. How did she become "Molly Brown," heroine of the Titanic? This lecture will describe the unique strategies used to research famous people.

Marston Watson. A native of Cambridge, MA, Marston's many years as genealogist and researcher have netted him over 20,000 ancestral names in his personal database. He contributed articles to a number of national publications including The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Mayflower Descendant and SAR Magazine. He has written several books on royal ancestry and other genealogical volumes.

Peggy Wishon. Peggy Wishon, a part-time professional genealogist for twelve years, has been researching English and American families since 1986 when she discovered her neighbor with family group sheets spread over her living room floor. Peggy was instantly addicted. She has spoken at BIFHS-USA meetings, the Los Angeles Family History Center, and for private groups. Sponsored by British Isles Family History Society - USA.

Tukufu Zuberi, Ph.D. Dr. Zuberi is a host on the hit PBS series The History Detectives. Now in its sixth season, History Detectives shows the way individual objects can serve as a lens into the past. As a History Detective, Dr.

Zuberi is an observer of the social and cultural forces that shape historical mysteries. Dr. Zuberi is also an important academic voice. He is the Lasry Family Professor of Race Relations, Professor and Chair of the Department of Sociology, and the Faculty Associate Director of the Center for Africana Studies at the University of Pennsylvania. He has also been a visiting professor at Makerere University in Kampala, Uganda and the University of Dar es Salaam in Tanzania.

About the Southern California Genealogical Society

Family Research Library

With nearly 35,000 volumes, the SCGS Family Research Library in Burbank, CA, holds one of the largest genealogical collections in the southwestern US. The facility seats 60 and is handicapped accessible. Free off-street parking adjoins the building. The Society is a 501(c)(3) organization and is entirely supported by the efforts of a dedicated, experienced group of volunteers.

SCGS has received designation as a FamilySearch Center. The collection includes geographic records and family histories in books, periodicals, manuscripts, microform, CDs and maps. Included are materials from every state and many countries, and we aim to have at least one resource for every county in the United States. The Library's catalog can be found on our website at www.scsgsgenealogy.com. Examples of some of our extensive collections include:

- NEHGS Series, 150 vols.
- Pennsylvania Archives
- Alabama records by Gandrud, 245 vols.
- French-Canadian (Tanguay, Red Drouin, Blue Drouin, PRDH, Loiselle, marriage records of 1,000 parishes)
- German Genealogical Society of America, 3000 vols.
- Genealogical Society of Hispanic America Southern California Chapter
- Los Angeles City Historical Society
- Ross collection for Cornwall, England
- Massachusetts town vital records
- Barbour collection of Connecticut vital records
- Filby passenger lists

Jamboree sessions will be held in the main hotel as well as the Convention Center, which will help alleviate crowded rooms. But we need your help. Please help us plan our room assignments and give us an early indication of the sessions that you are planning to attend. You are not locked into this decision and you may change your mind and attend a different session at Jamboree.

Instructions:

1. Refer to the lecture list included in this brochure. The session number is a two-letter, two-digit code found at the beginning of each course description.
2. Pick one session on each line.
3. Circle the appropriate session number in the box to the right.
4. If you are not planning to attend any session during a particular time slot, please circle "none".

The following sessions are free and do not require paid Jamboree registration: FR-A, FR-B, FR-C, FR-D, FR-E, FR-18, SA-39, SA-40

The following sessions require payment of additional fees:
FR-26, SA-A, SA-20, SA-42, SU-A
