Descendants of Dominic O'Mungan

First Generation

1. Dominic O'Mungan was born in 1715 and died circa 1774 in Tyrone, Ireland aged 59.

General Notes: The story of Dominic O'Mungan his life and descendants to the next 2 generations, especially including Bishop Mongan Warburton, is told by Norman Mongan in his book The Menapia Quest, published Herodotus Press 1995, p165-169.

He was the famed blind "poor road-way" bard harpist of Tyrone County.

Dominic married Warburton (possibly).

General Notes: The identification of an Alicia Warburton as cousin-german to Terence Charles on the latter's grant of a name change means that either Dominic married a Warburton, or his sister-in-law did.

It is not known who this Warburton family is, but the most likely candidate is the descendants of the three brothers (Richard, George, and John) who appeared in Ireland in the 17th century and established themselves as a major Anglo-Irish Protestant family.

Such a connection could also explain why the sons of a blind harpist could afford such a sound education, and why two of them subsequently renounced the Catholic faith.

Children from this marriage were:

2 M i. Mark Mongan was born about 1750 and died about 1775 aged about 25.

General Notes: According the Menapia Quest by Norman Mongan page 166, Mark was educated to be a priest and achieved excellent results at the College in Louvain. But when he returned from his study "he fell into a decay and died at his father's house in Strabane".

3 M ii. John Mongan was born about 1753 in Monaghan, County Monaghan Ireland and died on 31 Oct 1803 in Monaghan, County Monaghan Ireland aged about 50.

General Notes: According the Menapia Quest by Norman Mongan page 166, John was the second son of Dominic O'Mungan. He practised in and about Monaghan as a medical doctor, and had a good reputation. He recanted his Catholic faith and was killed in a carriage accident coming home from the races at Middleton.

Family belief in Australia is that he was married and had several children, including Sophie Caroline Mongan, John Charles Mongan, and John Mongan. Upon his death it is supposed the children may have been brought up in the household of his brother the eventual Bishop of Cloyne.

People in Australia (Mongan in Yackandandah, Victoria) believe they may be descendants of this doctor through his son John Mongan. However, the descent from this doctor son of Dominic O'Mungan is problematical. It is supposed, through family tradition, names and coincidence of dates, that the doctor who died in a gig accident, was father of this John Mongan who died on board the ship Hindoo en route to Australia. His wife Eleanor or Ellen McElvey and his sons eventually settled at Yackandandah Victoria.

There are known male descendants to 2008. DNA has been taken from a living descendant of the Mongan who died on the voyage, (from Mark Mongan aged 88 in 2008). This DNA it is hoped would match that of a male descendant of the Bishop Mongan Warburton (brother to the doctor) or other male descendant of the doctor. The descendants of the Bishop seem to be the most likely possibility to find.

John Young now deceased, researched the line from Sophia Caroline Mongan Fairtlough into the Young and Kirchoffer lines and his work was republished by Tim Sandberg. Tim has summarised John Young's remarks below.

"This Mongan used the given name John. His brother John Charles has been recorded as John Mongan, John Charles Mongan and Charles Mongan. It is probable that he used the given name Charles to distinguish himself from his brother with the given name John".

The same family folklore existed in the Australian Mongan family, as in the Canadian descended Mongan/Young/Kirchoffer families. The story of the Bishop matched. In fact, the Australian Mongan family understood that Dr. John Mungan and Miss Alcock had six children and some of them were brought up by Bishop Dr. Charles Mongan Warburton. It can be assumed that the clerical Alcock family also reared some of the children. The name Mark has been carried on through the generations in the family in Australia. This fact is significant.

Additional note by Elaine Hopper. In the year 2008 Mark Angelo Mongan, the assumed great grandson of the medical doctor, remains alive at 88 years, living near Yackandandah Victoria Australia. The given name Mark from the earlier grand uncle, Mark, the priest, has been carried down through the family for centuries including into the children of Mark Angelo Mongan of Yackandandah's 2 sisters Maura Mackay and Jane Patricia Murphy.

John married Unknown Alcock. Unknown was born before 1780.

General Notes: John is supposed to have married a Miss Alcock as per notes about the Fairtlough family in Clerical and Parochial Records of Cork, Cloyne, and Ross by William Maziere Brady (1864), which refer to "Sophia Caroline dau of John Mongan MD by a dau of Colonel Alcock".

- + 4 M    iii. Terence Charles Mongan Warburton was born about 1754, died on 9 Aug 1826 in Cloyne, Cork, Ireland aged about 72, and was buried on 12 Aug 1826 in Cloyne Cathedral, Cork, Ireland.

Second Generation (Children)

4. Terence Charles Mongan Warburton (Dominic<sup>1</sup>) was born about 1754, died on 9 Aug 1826 in Cloyne, Cork, Ireland aged about 72, and was buried on 12 Aug 1826 in Cloyne Cathedral, Cork, Ireland.

General Notes: A good reference to the life of Terence, his forebears and some of his children, is the book Menapia Quest, by Norman Mongan (The Herodotus Press, 1995). He was known by the first name Charles and anglicised his surname from O'Mungan to Mongan and then to Warburton as detailed here. He also renounced his Catholic faith and joined the established church, which enabled his career to blossom.

His early education to be a priest was undertaken in France. His first career was as an army chaplain and details are available on the website of the 62nd regiment to which he was for some time attached:
http://www.62ndregiment.org/Charles\_Mongan.htm

The site describes how he served in North America during the American War of Independence. During this time, in 1779 he married Frances Marston, a very well connected New York woman. She was probably his second wife who bore his children and outlived him. Details of his first wife are unknown.

There are also army details in From Revolution, Religion, and National Identity: Imperial Anglicanism in British North America 1745-1795 by Peter M. Doll (Fairleigh Dickinson University Press, 2000). Page 243 describes how, after the war, in 1785 "Robert Lowth, now Bishop of London sent the Reverend Charles Mongan, an army chaplain who had been a favourite of Sir Guy Carleton in New York, on a one-year study of the church in Canada".

The London Gazette Issue 13196 published on the 27 April 1790 stated: Dublin-Castle, April 16, 1790. Letters Patent have been passed under the Great Seal of this Kingdom, granting the Deanry of His Majesty's Cathedral Church of St. Patrick, in the Diocese of Ardagh, to the Reverend Charles Morgan, A. M. An ERRATUM in the next issue corrected his name to Mongan.

The London Gazette, issue 13241 published on the 28 September 1790, chronicles Charles Mongan's retirement from the chaplaincy of the 60th (or the Royal American) Regiment of Foot: William Leslie, Clerk, to be Chaplain, by Purchase, vice Charles Mongan, who retires.

In 1792, Mongan changed his name to Warburton as announced in the London Gazette of 22nd May 1792, page 334. The entry reads : The King has been pleased to grant to the Reverend Charles Morgan, Master of Arts, Rector of Loughgilly, in the County of Armagh, and Dean of St Patrick's Cathedral, Ardagh, in the Kingdom of Ireland and his issue, his Royal Licence and Authority to assume and take the Surname of Warburton only, in pursuance of the desire of his maternal cousin-german, Miss Alicia Warburton, spinster, sister of the late William Warburton, of the City of London Esq, deceased; and also to order that His Majesty's concession and Declaration be entered in His College of Arms. The following issue of the London Gazette noted an ERRATUM to the effect that the name was Mongan.

It is not yet known who the Warburton relations, William and the spinster Alicia were, but the term cousin-german, which means a full cousin' would suggest that Charles' mother's surname was Warburton, since Alicia the spinster was a Warburton. The William Warburton is not believed to be the famous Bishop William Warburton.

After changing his name Charles rose in the church, eventually becoming the Bishop of Cloyne, and extremely wealthy and well-connected. The Bishop's correspondence is preserved in Additional MS no 35731/35746 and 40227/40356 at the British Library, London.

Clerical and Parochial Records of Cork, Cloyne, and Ross by William Maziere Brady (1864), details his children, though it names a Maria and not the Bishop's beloved daughter Selina who died just before him, to his great grief, in 1826 and who is buried near and commemorated with him in Cloyne Cathedral. Nor does it mention a daughter, Charlotte. However the wills of his sons Augustus and Garnett both mention their sister Charlotte. Selina had died by the time the wills were made. A Maria is not mentioned in the wills. There was a Maria Warburton, daughter of the Bishop's son, also a cleric, Charles Warburton, Archdeacon of Tuam, and this may be where the confusion arose.

Descendants of Dominic O'Mungan

The Bishop died at Cloyne on 9 August, 1826, and was buried in that Cathedral on 12th August. On his tombstone is this inscription: To the Memory of the RIGHT REV. CHARLES WARBURTON, D.D., Lord Bishop of Cloyne, Deceased 9th August, A.D. 1826, Aged 72 years. This memorial of affectionate Regret is erected by his disconsolate Widow, Frances Warburton, and Children. He was consecrated Bishop of Limerick 13th July, 1806, and translated to this See 20th September, 1820. To a dignified Department in the strict Discharge of his Holy Office, he united most engaging Suavity of Manners and unbounded Benevolence.

Terence married Frances Marston on 18 Feb 1779 in New York, daughter of Nathaniel Marston and Anna Van Cortland. Frances was born about 1758.

Children from this marriage were:

- 5 M i. Garnett Warburton died after 1848.

General Notes: In Bentinck Street Major Garnett Warburton, late of the Madras army, and son of the late Bishop of Cloyne. He retired from the service in 1812. (The source of this reference is unknown).

Records of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury. Will of Garnett Warburton, Major in the service of the honourable East India Company of Bentinck Street Manchester Square, Middlesex. Date 11 April 1851 (PRO.) Will made in 1848. His executors are named as his brothers Charles and John Warburton. He leaves money to them as well as his pictures to John and his furniture and silverplate to Charles. He makes gifts of money and bequests to his nephew Garnett Philip Maunsell, described in the will as the son of his late sister Charlotte and Rev Archdeacon Maunsell, and to his nieces Charlotte and Selina Deborah daughters of the same couple. By 1848 his other brother Augustus, and his sisters Selina and Charlotte had died.

There is an entry on freebmd Death Index for Garnett Warburton died 1q1851 Marylebone London Middlesex page 149.

- + 6 M ii. Charles Warburton was born in 1781 in New York and died on 12 Dec 1855 in Rathkeale Glebe Co Limerick aged 74.

- 7 M iii. Augustus Frederick Warburton was born on 27 Nov 1783, died on 20 May 1836 in Cheltenham, Gloucestershire aged 52, and was buried on 22 May 1836 in Cheltenham, Holy Trinity, Gloucestershire.

General Notes: London Gazette Issue 15436, 15 December 1801, page 1487: War Office 19 Dec 1801 Lieutenant Augustus Warburton, from the 4th Foot, to be Captain, by Purchase, vice De Lanicey, who retires.

London Gazette Issue 15986, 23 December 1806: War Office 27 Dec 1806 91st Ditto, Captain Augustus Warburton, from the 57th Foot, to be Major, by Purchase, vice Campbell, who retires.

As Colonel in the 85th Regiment, in the War of 1812 at Tecumseh, his side was defeated partly owing to his commander's incompetence.

In 1831 Augustus Warburton was in Malta as Lt. Colonel of His Majesty's 85th or Kings light infantry and acting as Lieutenant Governor to issue proclamation against clandestine marriage in the island of Malta and its dependencies.

Records of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury. The Will of Augustus Warburton, Colonel in the Army and Lieutenant Colonel of the 85th Regiment of Light Infantry of Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, dated 03 June 1836, left bequests to his brothers named as Garnett, Charles and John and his sister Charlotte Maunsell.

In the church of Holy Trinity, Cheltenham there is an inscription for Colonel Augustus WARBURTON May 22, 1836. Holy Trinity Church is situated in Portland St., Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, England.

Annual Register 1837, Appendix to chronicle page 203: Deaths May at Cheltenham Augustus Warburton 85th regiment.

The Gentlemen Magazine 1836 Obituary page 221: May 20 at Cheltenham Colonel Augustus Warburton of the 85th regiment. He was appointed Ensign 4th foot in 1799, lieutenant in 1800, captain 60th foot 1801, in

- + 8 M iv. John Warburton was born on 14 Jul 1786 in Monaghan, County Monaghan Ireland and died in 1873 aged 87.
9 F v. Charlotte Ann Warburton was born on 21 Jul 1789 and died on 10 Dec 1842 aged 53.

General Notes: Charlotte is mentioned in her brothers' wills. In the case of Augustus will of 1836 she is his "sister Charlotte Maunsell". and in the case of Garnett's will made in 1848 she is "late sister".

Dates of birth, and death are from an LDS pedigree file submitted by Peter Wittam of California.

Charlotte married William Wray Maunsell on 29 Mar 1815 in Limerick, Ireland. William was born on 8 Dec 1782 and died on 25 Jul 1860 in Limerick, Ireland aged 77.

Marriage Notes: William Maunsell married Charlotte, dau. of Charles Warburton, Bp. of Cloyne, and by her had issue, inter alia, two sons, William Wray; and Robert Augustus (now P. Harristown, Kildare, and who married Frances Erskine, d.m. of Francis Tipping Hall, esq.), and three daughters, Fanny (wife of Major T. P. Vandeleur, esq., of Cragbeg Clarina), Lucy Diana (wife of Colonel Knox), and Selina.

General Notes: These remarks were part of a page entitled Maunsell research on rootsweb: Archdeacon of Limerick, died 25 July, 1860, aged 78 years, and in the 56th year of his ministry at his residence George Street, Limerick. His remains are interred in the family vault at St. John's Churchyard. He was the son of William Maunsell, Chancellor of Limerick, and of Lucy, daughter of Philip Oliver, born 1782 in Co. Limerick. General Notes: A well-loved daughter whose death preceded her father's by a very short time. She is remembered on her father's monument at the Cloyne Cathedral Cloyne, Cork.
